

Nouria Nagi

AND THEN THE QUEEN CALLED

Last month, Nouria Nagi received one of the most exciting calls of her life. The founding director of the Yemen Education and Relief Organisation (YERO) has spent the past ten years working day and night with the objective of providing education and basic necessities to orphans, the homeless, children from poor families and marginalized women. Nagi, a beloved Yemeni humanitarian, was awarded the Order of the British Empire by her Majesty, the Queen of England. Yemen Today magazine would like to congratulate Nouria Nagi on her achievement. Nouria, you make us proud. You're a true daughter of Sheba.

"I am thrilled that Ms Nouria Nagi has been awarded an OBE in the Queen's Birthday Honours list. Since setting up the Yemeni Education and Relief Organisation (YERO) in 2003, Nouria has worked tirelessly to transform the lives of so many women and children in Yemen. This award recognises the important contribution Nouria has made to her local community. I have no doubt that her dedication and commitment will provide opportunities to the deserving children of Sana'a for years to come."

HE Nicholas Hopton, British Ambassador to Yemen